

Corporate Profile

BOSCH

Invented for life

Bosch Security Systems, Inc.

Bosch Security Systems, Inc. works closely with an extensive network of certified dealers and integrators to design dependable communications, security and life safety solutions for the market. Product offerings consist of IP video surveillance systems — including a complete portfolio of high definition solutions — a new intrusion detection and control portfolio, fire detection and voice evacuation, access control, and public address.

Our significant investment in research and development is unsurpassed in the industry and enables us to regularly update our existing products and introduce new technologies. And, while technological innovation is important, we ensure that new product development addresses all the concerns paramount in the world of communications, security and life safety today, including performance, quality, and ease of installation, maintenance and use.

Our broad portfolio of products and systems for communications, video surveillance, access control, and intrusion and fire detection are used by major schools and universities, government agencies, correctional facilities, retail stores, sports and entertainment facilities, casinos, and in many other commercial and industrial environments throughout the world.

Bosch is committed to upholding the highest standards for service. Our goal is total customer satisfaction through products, service and support. Bosch associates work closely with customers to help them win new business. Technical support services are easily accessible via phone, email and the Internet for installers working to develop and maintain high-quality security and communications systems, and we provide extensive training to make sure our customers understand how to get the most from their systems.

For more than 125 years, the Bosch name has stood for quality and reliability. We are there for our customers during all crucial phases of a project: before, during and after the sale.

Advertisement

www.securitysales.com/freeinfo/22129

“I specify Bosch products because they’re simple to use.”

You spoke. We listened. The result: an exciting new intrusion portfolio that addresses the challenges you face every day, including false alarm reduction. Our D1265 Touch Screen keypad’s simple menu and bright color graphical LCD screen make it so easy to operate, it decreases user error. And, it’s just one of the tools now available from Bosch for creating high-quality, reliable solutions for your customers.

BOSCH
Invented for life

Intrusion detection — designed by you; engineered by Bosch.
Learn more at www.boschsecurity.us/intrusion.

www.securitysales.com/freeinfo/22155