

Corporate Profile

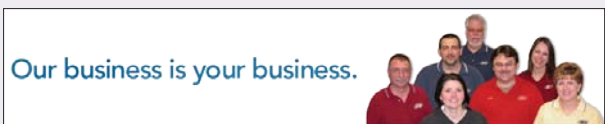

Security Equipment Supply, Inc. (SES)

SES has been serving the low-voltage industry since 1982. We carry a full line of low-voltage products from traditional burglar and fire protection installations to CCTV, home entertainment, home automation, data-com, IP network solutions, access control and much more. We serve low-voltage professionals throughout the United States. Although we are located throughout the Midwest we serve dealers in all 50 states.

We offer full stocking warehouses, unmatched customer convenience programs (such as SwiftPick, Spec-SES, branch and Webinar trainings), ongoing employee training and the most knowledgeable sales staff. Our locations are ultra-convenient and located in the heart of your market. They are all full-stocking showrooms and warehouses, with a good supply of the products you need most and with the ability to ship same day to anywhere in the United States. And with our SwiftPick ordering system, you can place an order by phone, fax or E-mail and it will be packed and ready when you arrive to pick it up. No waiting. No wasted time. No wasted money.

Superior customer service is our focus. At SES, we're always looking for new ways to help your business grow, with a friendlier, more personal approach to service. No matter how great the products or low the prices, service is the real bottom line. As a small business you need a supporter as much as a supplier, someone willing to take the punches from manufacturers, to run cover for you in warranty claims, and to provide tech support to keep a big job from going bad. You need a distributor that will stay in touch with your wants and react in a moment's notice to your needs. That's the true value of SES. We don't just build accounts. We build relationships — friendships, even. We care about your business. We want you to succeed. We want your jobs to go smoothly and your customers to be happy. And we want you to both trust and enjoy doing business with us. So in everything we do, we pour our heart and soul into making your business life easier and more profitable.

In short, SES is a friendly, independent alternative to our competitors. Our goal is to make your business life easier and more profitable. Check us out today! Visit www.sesonline.com to learn how we can work together today.

Our business is your business.

Every Low Voltage distributor has product in stock. That's the easy part. But when it comes to the one item you need from them more than any other -- real, day-to-day support for your business -- you'll too often find it in short supply.

Pardon us, but your order has arrived.

But not at SES. Since the day we opened nearly 30 years ago, support for your business has been the most important product we carry.

Each of our locations are filled with it, and we include it with every PIR, panel, camera, speaker, recorder, tool, and connector we sell. From consistent pricing that keeps you competitive and a friendly, personal approach to service to expert product training and "right now" technical support, SES will do all we can to help you make your business as successful as you want it to be. And in tough economic times like these, this commitment to service and support has proven to be the most popular item in our inventory.

So if you want a supplier that's more "partner" than just warehouse, call the SES nearest you today. The support you ordered is waiting for you.
